Compliance Assessors	Scott Jeffreys
Compliance Assessment Date	April 2nd, 2025
Report Summary and Commentary	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Eighteen (18) test subject vendor's products from sixteen (16) vendors were tested as part of the Test Report covering Windows 10 Business Users. 2. Formal Phase 1 Commentary was received from one (1) test subject vendor (Broadcom). In their commentary, Broadcom offered the following: "Regarding the Usability portion of the test - we believe that FP tests for enterprise security software should only include samples that are relevant in an enterprise space. We believe samples with no or extremely low prevalence should not be included, because a security product blocking these during a test would have no real-world effect. Additionally, we believe consumer-focused products should not be included in enterprise FP tests." 3. Per AMTSO Standard V1.3, AV-TEST has the right to respond and offered the following information on March 21st, 2025: "We have been discussing this with Symantec (sic) for years, as their approach to tagging all unknown or low-rated files is slightly different to how others have handled this. So, years ago we added high-priority sets that take prevalence into account and default or low-priority sets. Here prevalence does not matter and the score is very low for such cases and a flagged file does not affect a very good/perfect result." 4. AMTSO will publish both comments on the test site landing page in accordance with AMTSO Standard V1.3. 5. One (1) Phase 2 Commentary form was received (GEN/Avast) without any objections or concerns having been raised. 6. This incremental Test Series check is confirmed compliant with AMTSO Standard V1.3.
